

Pluck is the comedy string trio who are astounding audiences all over the world. Their spoof concerts combine music, comedy, and theatre in equal measure - pluck has created and mastered a subgenre that is completely its own.

Pluck during years 2003 to 2005 before being known internationally was configured at Saam House with The Specialists which was completely a new show. The world's most stupid musicians return with more classical buffoonery.

String Trio meets Marx Brothers !"Barry Cryer (a famous British writer and comedian) believes it was an immaculate musical mirth".

Sunday Times awarded this show as a "Classical music for all shoe sizes".

The Specialists

By: Pluck

Directed by: Cal Mc Crystal

Performed by : Adrian Garratt, Sian Kadifachi , Jon Regan.

